class of '18 INTERVENE

Juniors beat the seniors by one touchdown.

With a few minutes left on the clock, the crowd was up on their feet, shouting in suspense and anticipation. One pass was all it took to turn the tables in the game.

For the second year in a row, the junior class secured victory against the seniors during the annual powderpuff game.

"The coach said 'yeah, you guys won,' then we all jumped up and got super excited," junior Kelly Rivera said.

The final score was 7-0. The past two years the class of '18 had not scored a single touchdown against the class of '17.

"I think we won, because we were more together this year," junior Olivia Crowell said. "We worked more as a team, and it wasn't as chaotic."

Even though the juniors won, some of the seniors were not bitter about the loss.

"I mean we were kind of mad, but it didn't matter. It was our senior year and it was just a game. What mattered was that we all had a good time, and enjoyed the game," senior Brooke Hackworth said.

The competition of powderpuff is not all about winning or losing, but coming together as a team to accomplish something extraordinary.

She made it 20 yards before a freshman pulled her flag. "Everyone goes and watches the game, so it was fun to represent for my class," Fletcher said. photo by a. jordan 4/ The sophomores took possession of the ball and sophomore Macey Oates tries to keep it away from the seniors. Senior Briana Whitt pulled Oates' flag off and received a down. "[When I was running the ball] I thought oh crap I better run fast and hurry up and get this touchdown," Oates said. photo by a. jordan 5/ Senior Devin Cross runs the ball past the sophomores, as sophomore Alexandria Dalley pulls her flag. Cross stopped when she realized her flag was pulled, still smiling. "It was fun to beat the sophomores. I loved just getting to throw and run around a football with the seniors," Cross said. photo by a. jordan 6/ Ready to throw the football, freshman Brooke Lemen looks across the field to find an open play. The pass was caught by a freshman and ran down the field to attempt a touchdown. "[Playing powderpuff this year] was a great experience because I got to get to know new people while playing a sport I don't usually play," Lemen said. photo by a. jordan

ALL or NOTHING

Powderpuff players share how they trained for the game as a team.

"We lined up in a line and threw the football back and forth having fun as a team and when you are a team you play better."

-Freshman Lindsey Krieger

"Practice was pretty hectic and it was fun. We kind of just ran in circles and made it look like we new what we were doing."

-Sophomore Melaina Fischer

"We played a game where you turn around and at the last minute they tell you to turn back around and throw the ball at you and you have to try and catch it."

-Freshman Makyra Winkfield

"We threw the football and anyone who wanted the football had to say their name and a couple things about themselves."
